The rumer has been circulated that the president had another chill this morning. Those who are rightly acquainted with the lacts deny the story and say that the patient has had no chills since these which coursed previous to the incision. Dr. Agia whas been here all morning. One of comsuling surgeons will be in attendance daily for the present. Dr. Hamilton is expected to return to-night, at which time, unless some unfolescen emergency arises, Dr. Agnew will probably again return to Philadelphia.

Unofficial bulletin, Executive Mansion, 12 m.—Colonel Rock well who has just come from the president's room, says, the patient is reating very comfortably and he could reasonably be, expected under the circumstances. In response to a question, whe her there had been or would be a. y further operation aperiormed on the president, he said. No; there has been but one operation and judging from present indications he dud not anticipate that any more will be necessary. Continuing, Octonsi R. as at that at the morning areasing of the wound the surgeous took several smail pieces of bone from the fractured rib.
